THE REPORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH. CONSECRATION OF BISHOP CHENEY AT CHICAGO-BISUOP CUMMINS'S ADDRESS-PROSPECTS OF THE NEW MOVEMENT.

IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. CHICAGO, Dec. 14.-The Rev. Chas, Edward Cheney was consecrated a Bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church this morning under the Reformed Consecra tion service, and in the presence of an immense audience. The steps of the chancel were occupied by ladies, and the side aisles were crowded by gentlemen, standing, to witness the ceremonies. There were no decorations The lectern was removed and the pulpit placed in the center of the chancel. The presbyter formed a semi-circle, with Bishop Cummins in the center and Dr. Chency on the left, the following gentlemen standing in the order named: The Rev. Mason Gallagher of New-Jersey, the Rev. B. B. Leacock of New-York, the Rev. W. B. Feitwell of New-York, and the Rev. Charles H. Tucker of Chicago. The congrega-tion united with the choir in singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus's Name." After prayer and readings Bishop Cummins announced that the prayer-book and liturgy were those of the Convention, presided over by Dr. White. After the hymn came the sermon by Bishop amins, which was almost wholly devoted to a pre the old paths," the Episcopacy of the second century. His personal address to the new Eisbop was as follows:

the oid paths," the Episcopacy of the second century. His personal address to the new Eisbop was as follows:

And now, my beloved brother in the Lord, what words of mine can add to the solemnity of this heur and of this service in your esteem? In this city for the past 16 years, most momentous years in its history, you have fuffilled a ministry whose record is before the world and needs no commendation from me. In this congregation you have labored with a facility and with a success to which a thousand souls gladly bear witness to-day. Well do I remember the small and unpretending edifies which contained the congregation under your charge at the time of my entrance upon my work as rector of Trinity Church in this city in 1803. To-day this vast congregation, this great company of communicants, these hundreds of Sunday-school children, these flourishing mission chaptels, tell how graciously He who called you into His vineyard has blessed your efforts to serve Him. You have had trials such as fall to the lot of but few men, trials that have come upon you from loyalty to church and fidelity to your conscientions convictions of what is essential to the Gospel and to the truth that alone can save the soul. I would not dwell upon them. They are past. The dawn of a brighter day fails upon you, starting at this hour.

You have been chosen by an almost unanimous vote of both the clergy and laity smong your brethren to the office of a bisnop in this church. Your fellow-presbyters have come from distant places to unite in the golden act which ratifies your election by the council. Heavy, indeed, will be your responsibility in becoming the standard-bearer of the Reformed Episcopal Churen to the office of a bisnop in this church. Your fellow-presbyters have come from distant places to unite in the golden act which the same blessed work for Christ and his truth. If your heart fails as you approach this burden, look to Him who has never left you nor forsaken you in the past. I give the charge, dear brother, in the sight of God

After the sermen Dr. Cheney was conducted before Bishop Cummins, and the consecration took place. The contribution for the sustenance fund of the Reformed Episcopal Church yielded nearly $2,000. A cordial and affectionate invitation was extended to all Christians of the churches to remain and commune with the congregation at the table of their common Lord. Over 2,000 persons remained, the bread and wine being administered by Bishop Cheney.

In an interview yesterday Bishop Cummins said be anticipated that the Low Church, party of England and Ireland would avail themselves of the opportunity to turn their backs upon the innovations of the present century and go back to the Episcopal Church of the second century, Congratulatory letters had been reseived from England and Ireland and from an eminent divine of the English Church in Canada. Seven clergymen had already joined the movement, and 20 or 25 there have expressed themselves ready to There would soon be a Reformed Church at Peoria, with the Rev. A. G. Tyng as rector. Several distinshed ministers of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches would unite in the movement, and would be recognized and welcomed. He grieved to say that in the Dicesse of Illinois the Episcopal Church has assumed toward other denominations an arrogauce which had prevented its growth. The Church had hardly gained a convert in Illinois within 10 years, and this policy had been most disastrous. The Reformed Curreh stood toward the Episcopal as do the Old Catholics of Germany toward the New. [For Press continues on the Reformal Episcopul Church see Second Pope.]

reaved by the terrible shipwreck of the Ville du Havre, and especially with the families of the Rev. Prof. Pronier of Geneva, and the Rev. Antonio Carrasco of Madrid, the delegates to the recent General Conference here who were among the lost. The familiar faces of many prominent elergymen and laymen were visible in the andience, among them Dr. Adams, the paster of the church, the Rev. Drs. Tyng. st., Crosby, Prime, Morray, and Schaff, the Secretary of the Alliance, Bishop Janes, and the Hon. Wim. E. Dodge. The exercises consisted of the usual religious services, in which were intermingled the sympathetic and affecting addresses of the clergymen, who, during the session of the General Conference, became well acquainted with their deceased associates in the cause of Christian unity, and could speak more intelligentity of the loss the world had suffered in their sad fate. A prominent portion of these remarks were quotations from the papers and letters written by the deceased when in this country.

MUSIC.

SECOND PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.

The audience at the Philhermonic Concert on Saturday night-the second of the thirty-second season-was about as large and brilliant as usual. The following was the programme:

Mrs. Gülager.
FART II.

Overture, "Leonora," No. 2.
Cavatina, "Ma la sola," from "Bestrice di Tenda". Bellini Bymphony, No. 1. (F major).

Rubinstein
This was a charming selection of pieces for the crebestra, for it was interesting, well balanced, and of a uniformly high character; and although it is not usual to put two symphonies on a programme, such liberality in this case was certainly not misplaced. Neither Men delsschn's bright and cheerful work, nor the composition of Rubinstein's an entire novelty in New-York-fatigues the mind or overstrains the faculty of enjoyment. The concert ended at 10 o'clock and the listeners came away as fresh after the second symphony as if they had been regaled with overtures (and marches. The first movement of the Mendelssohn symphony (allegro vivace) was not very well played. The sentiment was correctly and even poetically expressed, but the execution was not neat. Ragged ends were left hanging from the work; the brasses were a little uncertain, and the atrings lacked unity. In the beautiful andaute con moto, however, and in the favorite scherzo these defects almost wholly disappeared, while the finale (saltarello presto) was given with fine spirit and precision. The" Leonora" overture, barring one or two slight defects, was also well done, and with the performance of the Rubinstein Symphonygit would be difficult to find any serious fault. The work itself will never be so well liked by the multitude as the Ocean Symphony, though some passages of it are extraordinarily beautiful. That it was not dwarfed by the overture, that in such high company it showed not a common-place phrase nor a weak idea, is proof enough of its noble character as a composition. The first part, an allegro, is distinguished by a richness

The first part, an allegro, is distinguished by a richness, lie of coloring and a certain masculine vigor of movement, that suggest somehow a sort of harbaric splendor and freedom. Then comes a scherzo, with two thermes, the second remarkable for its quiet and graceful menody. The third movement is an expansible and and comments and the finale an effective allegro vivace. The symptoty scored.

INFLATION AND ITS EVILS.

BRANDY IN WALL-ST .- THE PEVERISH RESULT-THE NECESSITIES OF THE GOVERNMENT AND THEIR EVIL EFFECT.

The condition of the Treasury Department was found on Saturday to give as much delight to Wallst. as it is sincerely deplored by the country. No doubt seems now to be entertained in any quarter that the Treasury must continue its steady drafts upon the $44. 000,000 reserve, until the entire amount has been issued. With the possibility of war with Spain finally averted, with the revival of business throughout the country, with the heavy dividends to be paid in January, and with the banks aiready so strong as to announce a sur-plus of $10,000,000 in currency above their 25 per cent reserve, business men think that there will be every op-portunity for a safe and steady revival of general trade. The necessities of the mismanaged Treasury, however, continue to demand more greenbacks; the heavy expenses hearred in the naval preparations have yet to be met; there are even some $2,000,000 of legal tenders to be paid by the Government on the Pacific Railroad bends in January, and thus the brandy, which makes Wall-st. delirious, must continue to be administered in alarming doses. The result was seen on Saturday in a feverish stock narket, closing at the highest prices of the day, and with operators loudly calculating as well on the neces-sities of the Government as on the dividends and interest to be disbursed in January, for the easy money with which they expect to make the mad game go faster and faster. They all count, also, and with certainty, that the January dividends will be mainly invested-for lack of the milroad bonds which used to be offered so pro-RUMORED UNION OF INTERESTS.

A rumor begins to gain credence among brokers of a proposed union in the interest of the Pacific Mail Steamship and the Union Pacific Railroad Companies. Heavy purchases have been made during the week at every decline in the stocks of each by operators who seemed to be working into each other's hands, and the operations are believed to have been in the same interest, and with reference to the next elections in those Companies, now only a few months distant. The new iron ships of the Pacific Mail are supposed to be likely to bring the service of that Company up to such a point as to enable it to take away the bulk of the freight trade from the Union Pacific Railroad? and at any rate to make it unwise that the two institutions should be operated in opposition to each other. At the request of the Chamber of Commerce, a special committee to consider the subject of National finances has been appointed by the Board of Managers of the New-York Produce Exchange, consist ing of the President, Franklin Edson, Chairman; the Vice-President, Bend, W. Fiovd; the Secretary, Wm. H. Phillips; the Treasurer, Benj C. Bogert, and three members at large, Messrs, S. D. Harrison, John H. Boynton, and Henry Kemp. A meeting of the Committee will be held on Wednesday in the managers' room. The managers of the Asbury Life Insurance Company after having curtailed expenses so far as possible during the past two years, have finally decided, it is said, to issue no new policies and gradually to close their business, paying to policy holders the "surrender value" of their policies, or remsuring them in other companies. The embarrassments under which this company has been laboring for some time have been fully stated in

In the sait for the recovery of $1.00,000, brought by Redermann & Co. against Drew, Robinson & Alden, for alleged conspiracy in certain Canton stock transactions, particulars of which have been published in The Tribune, an order was issued from the Court that Robinson and Alden, ce-defendants with Drew, be examined before Watter L. Livingston, referee, preliminary to trial, in relation to the transactions mentioned in the complaint. The hour fixed for examination was 11 a. m. Saturday. Judge Fullerton appeared for plaintiffs, Smith & Bush for Drew's counsel gave notice that he should move to have the order for examination dismissed, and would serve the papers on plaintiffs counsel on Monday. He therefore assed for an adjournment until Dec. 22, at 12 m, which was granted.
